Welcome to the Graduate School of Kwangwoon University, one of the renowned Graduate Schools in Korea.

During the time of darkness, when our nation was under Japanese colonization, Chosun Radio School was established in 1934 by Dr. Kwangwoon Cho, the pioneer who has foreseen the upcoming electronics engineering-based technologies; proudly, Kwangwoon University has developed to inherit its legacy. Today, Kwangwoon University has grown to become a “smaller but stronger” college, leading the fourth industrial revolution which roots from convergence of information and communication technologies.

Kwangwoon Graduate School was established under its founding spirit of diligence, thrift, and exploration to study knowledge and to educate professionals holistically, following the criteria of successful individuals in information age. Starting with 36 students in 1979, now about 700 students including international students from many parts of the world are devoting their selves on work, day and night, to realize their academic visions and achieve professional goals.

In 33 department of Kwangwoon Graduate School, master’s, doctoral, and master-doctoral integrated courses are open to foster creative and outstanding talents. Also, we are proud to mention that our “smaller but stronger” faculty members has not only been supplying high-quality human resources to the society, but also has not missed high rankings in major domestic research indicators owing to their consistent effort.
